

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus for improving uniformity used in backlight module is disclosed, which includes a plurality of light sources for providing an illuminating light; a reflective housing adjacent to the light sources for receiving the light sources and reflecting the illuminating light; and at least one structured arc sheet locating at the periphery of the light source for making the illuminating light uniform.